Even offer it as a template to teach your viewers how to make their own clips! With ease, you can build a business out of a passion. I've tried doing it without sound, sound will help you stand out. 9. And finally, the most important of them all: a business idea that will make money. The one that doesn't fail for lack of a market, or of not being more relevant, or because of a lack of search or a lack of attention, or because of a lack of SEO. A business idea that is profitable. Some of these ideas are more in the beginning stages than others, but what is happening in the world is that the boundaries of possibility for creative people is expanding. You are free to copy and share as you see fit, but if you wish to use any of these, simply say what you have done. There is no need to ask permission. Next, I'll finish with a list of some of my most well-worn business books. There are lots of business books, but these are some of the ones that are most powerful. (There are even books that I haven't read, but I recommend because they are so incredibly useful!) 10. The 5-Step System for Business Success by Jay Conrad Levinson, 2nd edition. The first edition was pretty unhelpful, but this one is good! 11. Start With Why by Simon Sinek. Once again, an excellent book, but it's called Start With Why. For example: I started a Youtube channel by asking, "Why do I want to do this?" And then the rest came together. 12. Mastering the Rockefeller Habits by Chris Dyer. This is one of my favorite books. It is about three simple things that you can master: creating health, making money, and getting rid of fear. It's wonderful. 13. Real Answers For The Really Tough Questions by Tracy Hogg. I recommend this book for anyone who is struggling with any kind of difficult situation. In it, Tracy Hogg shares the ideas of a group of thinkers who have worked for decades to address some of life's toughest questions: Why are we here? What is our purpose? What is our fate? What is it all about? And she's right! The questions that we find ourselves asking are way more powerful than the answers. 82157476af
